09:40 FIDIC Red Book & Practical Application Case Study

The FIDIC Red Book is FIDIC's flagship form of contract and the base from which other contract strategies (e.g. Yellow Book, Silver, Pink, Gold, etc) have been developed. As a construction only contract, it has unique features which affect the way in which the procurement of a project and its contract management need to be approached. This session outlines important aspects of Red Book and describes its use on engineering and building projects, large and small, in a global marketplace. The session will examine:

- The 1999 FIDIC Conditions of Construction for Construction ('Red Book'), why it was published as a new approach by FIDIC
- Some features of the 1999 edition: the Engineer, delegations, design responsibility, risk allocation
- Documenting, procuring, mobilising, administering and completing a Red Book contract for an engineering project
- Some potential problem areas: delays, variations, payment certification, claims, determinations, disputes
- Role of the Engineer under the Red Book
- Case study from use of Red Book on a major construction project

11:50 The MDB Harmonized Contract

The major Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs) adopted the General Conditions of the FIDIC conditions of contract for building and engineering works designed by the Employer (the FIDIC Conditions of Contract for Construction), and its previous version, in their Standard Bidding Documents (SBDs) for major works. The inclusion of the Harmonized FIDIC form of Contract in their SDBs serves to ensure environmentally and socially responsible procurement and successful project delivery. This session aims to provide an overview of the Harmonized FIDIC form of contract and highlight its comparative advantages by exploring cross-cutting issues such as:

- Procurement
- Sustainability
- Value for money

09:05 Engagement of a Representative Using the FIDIC Model Agreement as a Guide

A consulting engineering firm entering a new market may want to engage a Representative to assist with marketing and client relations. While a good Representative can be important to the firm's success, significant corruption risks can arise. This session will cover the steps that should be followed in engaging a Representative, using the FIDIC Model Representative Agreement as a guide.

- Identifying candidates
- Due diligence, reference checks
- Establishing scope of services
- Basis of payment - success fee vs. hourly rates plus expenses
- Negotiating the Representative Agreement
- Following up

Dr Jorge Diaz Padilla, Past President, Chair, Integrity management Committee, FIDIC (Mexico)

John C. W. Ritchie, Member, FIDIC INTEGRITY MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE (Canada)

09:50 Cost Management & Funding Issues Under FIDIC

Development banks and other funding institutions need to avoid budget overruns. Furthermore they have to ensure that money loaned is solely used for the purposes as agreed with the borrower. At first sight, budget certainty and a balanced risk allocation may seem inconsistent with one another. The Engineer's role seems to be prone to corruption, while in principle, the Engineer shall be the guardian of the rates. Using DABs may help to avoid corruption while related costs are not yet always understood as an appropriate tool for dispute avoidance and correct implementation of the Contract. This session will explore:

- Contingencies: funding and risk allocation
- Uncertainty: funding and provisional sums
- Engineer under constraints: Is the Engineer the guardian of the funds?
- Avoiding corruption: do funding institutions allow conflict of interests?
- DAB: funding and how to make use of DABS

10:50 Setting up a Joint Venture Agreement Internationally Under FIDIC

JVs are genuine capacity building and risk sharing vehicles. On the other hand JVs require a solid basis and trust among the JV members. Daily business presupposes action capacity. Typically mere alliances are not easy to handle since individualism prevails while performance of services requires joint efforts. The new FIDIC JV Agreement addresses all these issues and offers an interesting and solid basis for capacity building, joint tendering and performance of services.

- What is an international JV?
- Alliances and legal nature of JVs
- Typical experience with international JVs
- Risk & joint and several liability
- Manageability of JV
- How to make use of the FIDIC JV Agreement

15:00 Dispute Boards: A Global Comparative Perspective

The growing use of Dispute Boards in all major forms of contracts as the alternative to lengthy and costly litigation for construction claims is increasing. The FIDIC Contracts are especially noteworthy in the requirement that all disputes go through the DAB process and that a DAB is mandatory. The speakers will give an overview of this critical area as it applies internationally and in particular to the Americas. Particular points of interest include:

- FIDIC Sub-clause 20 and its use
- Dispute Boards generally and specifically as to the various FIDIC Contracts e.g. the RED, Yellow, Silver, Gold and Pink Books
- Time-barred clauses and the trend to reduce the severity of such clauses
- Dispute Board formation, operation and termination
- Appeals from Dispute Board decisions and enforcement of Dispute Board decisions
- Additional helpful clauses to fine tune Dispute Boards.

16:05 FIDIC DABs: Lessons Learned & Adjudicators' Recommendations for the Parties

Making effective use of a Dispute Board to help avoid disagreements escalating into disputes is an important part of achieving a successful project outcome. Hear from experienced adjudicators about how to get the best from the FIDIC DAB for dispute avoidance as well as dispute resolution:

- Focusing on dispute avoidance procedures
- Using the DB for informal assistance
- Obtaining a DB opinion
- Deciding when it is necessary to refer a dispute to the DB
- Strategic thinking for referring a dispute
