Standards and Guidelines: ISO 14000 Environmental Management

www.iso.org

Summary

The ISO 14000 family addresses environmental management. It provides tools for companies to identify and control their environmental impact. This includes environmental management systems, life cycle analysis, communication and auditing.

Owner: International Organisation for Standardisation (ISO)
Туре						Themes
l Strategic		agement porting	Design or data specific	Assess./indicato		Standards	General sustainability	Carbon / climate	Sector Specific	Other
Country		International			De	velopment	This is listed amongst ISO's popular standards.
Sector		Not specific to infrastructure
Published		from 2004
Access		Purchase online
Target group / users						y stainability emes	Environmental management systems and speenvironmental aspects such as life cycle analy environmental performance evaluation, environmental communication, environment auditing, environmental labelling, environment aspects of product design & development, environmental aspects in product standards, of management, carbon footprinting of products		mental nmental t, rds, GHG	