

Construction Contract MDB Harmonised

16 – 17 May 2016 | TRANS LUXURY HOTEL BANDUNG

A number of the Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs) have for many years adopted the FIDIC Conditions of Contract for Construction as part of the Standard Bidding Documents which the MDBs require their borrowers or aid recipients to follow. In using the FIDIC Conditions it has been the regular practice of the MDBs to introduce additional Clauses in the Conditions of Particular Application (or "Particular Conditions") in order to amend provisions contained in the FIDIC General Conditions. These additional clauses in many cases have standard wording which has to be repeated whenever procurement documents are being prepared for a new project. Furthermore, the provisions in bid documents, including the additional clauses contained in the Particular Conditions, varied between the MDBs, and this created inefficiencies and uncertainties amongst the users of the documents, and increased the possibilities for disputes.
